EB-5

What is EB-5?

The EB-5 Immigrant Investor Program is a United States immigration program created by the Immigration Act of 1990. The EB-5 Visa provides a method of obtaining a Green Card for foreign nationals who invest money in the United States. To obtain the visa, individuals must invest at least $500,000 USD in a project or business within a TEA and create at least 10 jobs through that investment.

What is a Regional Center?

The EB-5 Immigrant Investor Pilot Program began in 1992 and created 'Regional Center' designations. A Regional Center is a United States government approved entity dedicated to the promotion of economic growth, improved regional productivity, job creation, and increased domestic capital investment of a region. EB-5 Regional Center projects must meet the requirements set forth by the United States Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS).

What is a Targeted Employment Area?

A Targeted Employment Area (TEA) is any city, county, census tract or other geographical area accepted by the USCIS that has an unemployment rate over 150% of the national average rate, or a "rural area." A rural area is an area outside a metropolitan statistical area or outer boundary of any city or town having a population of 20,000 or more.

Who are EB-5 Investors?

EB-5 investors can come from any country outside the U.S., and can even include people who are in the U.S. legally under a temporary visa. In the first three quarters of fiscal 2011, over 70% of all EB-5 investors have come from China, Middle East, and South America, where CFG has very strong contacts.

What are EB-5 requirements?

In order to qualify for an EB-5 Visa, an investor must invest at least $1,000,000, or $500,000 for a project in a TEA in an enterprise that will create at least 10 new full-time jobs for U.S. citizens and legal residents. If the project is an existing business, the 10 new jobs have to be in addition to the existing jobs in the business.
